Our East Midlands community

IoD East Midlands is in the heart of the nation. Our community is made up of four dedicated Branches.

Lincolnshire

The Lincolnshire branch is headed by Chair Michelle Allison who works tirelessly to boost the business community through her work at the IoD as well as through her role as Chief Executive of the Lincolnshire & Rutland Education Business Partnership. The Lincolnshire branch hosts a number of events including our Annual Lincolnshire Lunch, attended by Directors and prominent business leaders across the region. The Branch and local members are supported by a number of highly experienced Ambassadors in Defence, Health, Construction & Engineering, Skills & Education, Professional Services & Finance, Diversity & Inclusion, PR & Communications, Policy Voice, Digital, Chartered Director and Professional Development, Financial Planning & Wealth Management and Policing and Criminal Justice.

Derbyshire & Nottinghamshire

Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire make up the largest of the East Midlands branches consisting of over 500 members. The Branch has an invigorated Committee for 2021 and plan to host a number of events and develop key campaigns to support and inspire the region's business leaders.

Leicestershire & South East Midlands

The South East Midlands Branch covers the Leicestershire and Northamptonshire areas and is chaired by Sarah Canning. The Branch comprises of over 400 members representing all sectors of the economy. This diversity is reflected in the Branch Committee and Ambassadors; all of whom volunteer their time to address issues of relevance to members as well as ensuring that member feedback on key business subjects are represented at the most influential levels.

What IoD East Midlands Supporters say...

"We're delighted to be renewing our sponsorship of the IoD; we've found the East Midlands events to be very well-attended and have run several joint seminars with the IoD, which have been well received by the members. These events have helped to raise the profile of Nelsons across the region as well as highlight service specialists and expertise. The networking events have also provided ideal opportunities to meet with other local businesses on a regular basis and we look forward to another year of our partnership."

Anna Smith, Partner & Director of Marketing, Nelsons

"Our region is home to some of the most innovative, dynamic and talented leaders in the UK, which is why we're delighted to support the Midlands IoD Awards each year. As a previous winner and keen supporter of innovation & entrepreneurship I have seen first-hand the positive impact, which the awards have on the businesses involved, whether they are nominated or as a sponsor. The IoD Awards showcase stories of success in a challenging business environment, while also acting as a great way to motivate internal teams."

Dr Nik Kotecha OBE, Chairman, Morningside Pharmaceuticals Ltd
